

Cristina Hoss

Research Fellow at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, Heidelberg and visiting professor at the Lille Catholic University.

Mamadou Hébié

Mamadou Hébié is Assistant Professor at the Grotius Centre for International Legal Studies of Leiden University and Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University.

Before teaching at the Lille Catholic University, Mamadou was Lecturer at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, in the Master in International Dispute Settlement program (MIDS).

He holds a Ph.D., summa cum laude, avec les félicitations du jury (2012), and a Diploma in Advanced Studies - Specialization international law (2006), from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies.

Mamadou Hébié also graduated from Harvard Law School (2012) and the Geneva Academy of International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights (2005), and is a recipient of the Diplomas of The Hague Academy of International Law (2010) and the International Institute of Human Rights (2009).

Mamadou's Ph.D. thesis on 'Les accords conclus entre les puissances coloniales et les entités politiques locales comme moyens d'acquisition de la souveraineté territoriale' won in 2016 the Paul Guggenheim Prize in International Law. He acted as adviser to the Argentine Republic in the ARA Libertad case before the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea. His areas of interests include general international law, international dispute settlement mechanisms, territorial and maritime boundary disputes, international humanitarian law and human rights, international economic law, and the history of international law.

Vladyslav Lanovoy

Vladyslav Lanovoy is Associate Legal Officer to Judge Mohamed Bennouna at the International Court of Justice and Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University.

He has previously worked in international arbitration at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer LLP in London and Paris and at the Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague. He has also consulted for the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights and the UN Environment Programme in Geneva. Vladyslav holds a Ph.D. in International law from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies in Geneva and is the author of 'Complicity and its Limits in the Law of International Responsibility' (Hart 2016). He is admitted to practice law as a solicitor in England and Wales.

Aurélien Raccah

Aurélien Raccah is Associate Professor at the Lille Catholic University since 2009, and Assessor to the dean in charge of international development. He is also a teaching director of the European law degree, co-director of the International and European Law School (IELS), and head of the PrepAvocat and member of the C3RD.

He holds a Ph.D. in comparative public law since 2009. His thesis topic is: "The direct application of European Union law by decentralised entities. Comparative approach in Germany, the United Kingdom and France". He was admitted to practice law as a lawyer in 2009 and practises at ELEA (Paris).

He teaches in European Legal Proceedings, European Integration, German Public Law. He also supervises a research seminar on International and European law.

Yannick Radi

Yannick Radi is a Professor of Public International Law at the Law Faculty of the University of Louvain (UCLouvain), and a visiting professor at the Lille Catholic University. He is Editor-in-Chief of the Brill Research Perspectives in International Legal Theory and Practice. Yannick is a member of various scientific committees and research projects, especially the International Committee of the International Law Association on the 'Rule of Law and International Investment Law'.

He holds a Ph.D. and an LL.M. from the European University Institute and an LL.M. from the University Paris II Panthéon-Assas. His areas of expertise include International Dispute Settlement, Global Economic Governance and International Investment Law.

He is the author of several publications in these fields, notably a forthcoming textbook on International Investment Law and arbitration to be published by Cambridge University Press.

Valentina Volpe

Valentina Volpe is Associate Professor in Public International Law at the Lille Catholic University, Co-Director of the LL.M in International Law, Security and Development and Senior Research Affiliate at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law (MPIL) in Heidelberg (Germany).

She holds a Ph.D. summa cum laude in Law and Legal Theory from the Italian Institute of Human Sciences (SUM) of Naples (today Scuola Normale Superiore of Pisa) and is a former Visiting Researcher at Yale Law School. During her career, she has had the opportunity to study in Italy, France and in the US and to work as project manager for a grassroots NGO in the areas of international cooperation and human rights protection. She is currently an Associate Lecturer at LUISS Guido Carli University, Rome. She has been a Visiting Professor at the CUPL of Beijing, the UN-mandate University for Peace (UPEACE) in San José, Costa Rica, and at the University of Mannheim, Germany.

Her research interests cover the fields of European and International Public Law, encompassing disciplines such as global governance, democracy promotion, human rights, comparative public law, and European law.

Matteo Giuseppe Vaccaro-Incisa

Matteo Giuseppe Vaccaro-Incisa is currently Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University as well as a Professor in International Law and International Legal Dispute Settlement at the IESEG School of Management. He also practices law and counsel at the Studio Legale Vaccaro.

Matteo holds a Ph.D. in Philosophy and International Law with honours (2014) from the Geneva University, a Ph.D. in Philosophy (2014) from the Università Commerciale 'Luigi Bocconi' and an Advanced LL.M. in International Dispute Settlement (2009).

His research interests are International Arbitration, International Dispute Settlement, International Investment Law, Legal Theory, and Public International Law. Among his recent publications : Chaisse J., Vaccaro-Incisa G. M., (2018), "The EU investment court: challenges on the path ahead, Columbia Law School Center on Sustainable Investment, Columbia FDI Perspectives, Vaccaro-Incisa G. M., (2017); Crimea's Secession from Ukraine and Accession to the Russian Federation as an Instance of North(- West) v. South(-East) Divide in the Understanding of International Law, Santa Clara Journal of International Law, 15(2), pp. 125-156 and Vaccaro-Incisa G. M., (2016), Book review of: M. Arnone & L. Borlini - Corruption, Economic Analysis and International Law, Leiden Journal of International Law, 29(1), pp. 275-278.

Sarah Durelle-Marc

Sarah Durelle-Marc is Associate professor at the Lille Catholic University. She teaches about the Actors and parliamentary institutions in the European Union at IEP of Lille, and she is the head of the Law and Political Science Bachelor's program at the Lille Catholic University. She is also a member of the DISE Chair - Law and best interests of the child (the Lille Catholic University), a member of C3RD - Centre de recherche sur les relations entre le risque et le droit (FLD the Lille Catholic University) and an associate Member of IODE - Institut de l'Ouest: Droit et Europe, Faculté de Droit et de Science politique (University of Rennes).

She holds a Ph.D. in European Law with honours (2011) and an LL.M in European Law (1999) from the University of Rennes.

Among her research interests are Protection of children and European Law.

Her recent publications are : "L'enfant adopté simple: une situation fiscalement précaire en cas de décès de l'adoptant pendant la minorité de l'enfant", " La responsabilité du chef de l'État français au regard de son action européenne", in Chr. GESLOT, P.-Y. MONJAL et J. ROSSETTO (dir), and "The international legal personality and the identity of the European Union". see year and publisher

Ioannis Panoussis

Ioannis Panoussis is Dean of the Faculty of Law since July 2014. He also is Associate Professor of Public International Law at the faculty since 2006, he is the co-director of the Master 2 in International and European law in Human Rights, security and Development and a member of the C3RD.

He holds a Ph.D. in public law since 2006? His doctoral thesis is "The normative combination: research on an interpretation method at the service of human rights".

Among the courses he teaches: Public International law, protection of vulnerable persons, Human Rights and Fundamental Liberties, International Humanitarian Law and International Human Rights Protection.

His main areas of research are public International Law, European law, human rights, Refugee Law and Constitutional Law.

Eliane Fischer

Eliane is a Principal Associate Disputes at Freshfield Bruckhaus Deringer and a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. She practices in the area of dispute resolution and international arbitration, with a particular focus on complex international construction and engineering disputes, sales and supply contracts, joint-venture disputes, energy projects, the telecoms sector as well as investment disputes. She has also acted as counsel or co-counsel in cases under various arbitration rules.

She is a former law clerk at the Administrative Court of the Canton of Zurich (Switzerland) and a former case lawyer at the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg. Eliane holds a LL.M. from the University of Fribourg, Switzerland and an LL.M. in Internationals Affairs from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, Switzerland.

Leonardo Massai

Leonardo is Associate at Acclimatise and Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. He is a climate change law and policy specialist. He is experienced in providing training, assistance, advisory services, capacity building, research and teaching on international, regional and national climate change law and policy.

Leonardo holds a Ph.D. in Climate Change Law and is also associated with academic institutions where he regularly lectures in EU Law, International and EU Environmental Law, Climate Change Law and Human Rights and Environment. He has a strong publication record in peer reviewed journals and is currently editor of several journals and portals on the subject.

Florin Dascalescu

Florin Dascalescu is a Romanian-qualified lawyer and a member of the Brussels Bar. He is currently working for the European Investment Bank as a legal Counsel and is a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University.

Before that Florin held an associate position in Van Bael & Bellis (Brussels Office) and practiced international Trade Law (primarily EU anti-dumping) and EU Competition Law. Prior to joining Van Bael & Bellis as an associate in 2007, Florin worked in a law firm in Romania and taught seminars in public international law at the “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University (Romania).

He holds a DES degree from the Institute of European Studies (Brussels) and he was a Research Scholar (Grotius Fellow) at the Michigan Law School (Ann Arbor). He has constantly published studies in Romanian legal journals since 2003, on topics including Competition Law and Human Rights.

Pedro Pablo Silva Sanchez

Pedro Pablo Silva Sánchez is a Researcher at the Centre for Marine Environmental Sciences (MARUM) at the University of Bremen. He holds a Ph.D. in International Law, International Environmental Law, International Law of the Sea and Marine Environment from the University of Bremen. During his career he has had the opportunity to study in Chile, Brazil, Scotland, The Netherlands and Germany and to work as a legal adviser and lawyer at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Chile. Currently, he is a Lecturer at the Bremen University of Applied Sciences – Hochschule Bremen, and at the Lille Catholic University. His research interests cover the fields of International Environmental Law and Climate Change Law, encompassing disciplines such as conflict resolution, lawsuits, human rights, arbitration, international trade law and public policy.

Nadia Bernaz

Nadia Bernaz is an Associate Professor at the Wageningen University in The Netherlands and a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. Currently, she is also a Visiting Researcher at the Middlesex University (London), and an Associate Member at the BHRE Research Group. She holds a Ph.D. in International Law from Aix-Marseille University in France. She was Senior Lecturer in Law at Middlesex University and held positions at the Irish Centre for Human Rights (National University of Ireland Galway), Aix-Marseille University and Paul Cezanne University (Aix-en-Provence). She is the author of the book “Business and Human Rights, History, Law and Policy. Bridging the Accountability Gap”; and runs the blog “Rights as Usual.” Her main areas of research are Business and Human Rights, global and EU Environmental Law and global economic trade law.

Marco Odello

Marco Odello is a Lecturer in Law at the Department of Law & Criminology (Aberystwyth University, UK). He is also the Department Director of Research and Fellow of the Higher Education Academy and a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University.

He holds a Ph.D. in Law cum laude from the Complutense University of Madrid.

Currently, he is General Editor of the Cambrian Law Review, member of the editorial board of Revista Internacional de Mediación. Marco has been guest Lecturer at Universities in Venezuela, Spain, The Netherlands, Sweden, Germany and Argentina. He has worked and co-operated with international institutions, such as the Italian Committee for UNICEF, the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, the Institute for University Cooperation, the Collège Universitaire Henry Dunant, and the International Institute of Humanitarian Law.

Hélène Tigroudja

Hélène Tigroudja is a Senior Global Fellow at the New York University School of Law (NYU). She is also a Law Professor at Aix-Marseille University (France), Co-Director of the Law School's Master Program of International Law, Director of the Summer School on Practice of Human Rights and Expert on reparations before the International Criminal Court and visiting professor at the Lille Catholic University. She holds a Ph.D. in Law, from the University of Lille 2.

She has acted regularly as an expert for the Council of Europe, the United Nations (UNODC programs on fight against terrorism) and the European Union. Hélène is also Faculty Director of the Legal Clinic Aix Global Justice focusing on international human rights law. Her focus in teaching and research ranges from International Law, European law, International Human Rights law, international criminal law, and international migration law, with a special focus on comparative approaches of regional and universal human rights mechanisms, immunities of States and International Organizations, Responsibility of States for wrongful acts, law of armed conflicts, domestic implementation of international legal obligations and fight against terrorism. Is co-author of the book « Traité de droit international des droits de l'homme », published in 2016.

Valentina Volpe

Valentina is an Associate Professor in Public International Law at the Lille Catholic University, co-director of the LL.M International Law and European Law and Senior Research Affiliate at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law (MPIL) in Heidelberg (Germany). She holds a Ph.D. summa cum laude in Law and Legal Theory from the Italian Institute of Human Sciences (SUM) of Naples (today Scuola Normale Superiore of Pisa) and is a former Visiting Researcher at Yale Law School. During her career, she has had the opportunity to study in Italy, France and in the US and to work as project manager for a grassroots NGO in the areas of international cooperation and human rights protection. She is currently an Associate Lecturer at LUISS Guido Carli University, Rome. She has been a Visiting Professor at the CUPL of Beijing, the UN-mandate University for Peace (UPEACE) in San José, Costa Rica, and at the University of Mannheim, Germany. Her research interests cover the fields of European and international public law, encompassing disciplines such as global governance, democracy promotion, human rights, comparative public law, and European law.

Frédérique Ast

Frédérique Ast is a Senior Legal Adviser in charge of discrimination cases within the French ombudsman Le Défenseur des Droits. She holds a Ph.D. in European Human Rights Law from the University of Panthéon-Assas (Paris II), a LL.M. Auditor in European Social Law and Anti-Discrimination Law from the University College London and London School of Economics, and a LL.M. in EU Law from the University of Panthéon-Assas (Paris II). Additionally, she is a Visiting Professor at the FLD (the Lille Catholic University) and a Consultant on European Human Rights standards in the framework of the project “HELP in the 28”, for the Council of Europe. Frédérique has participated in several publications; her last publication was « La gestion de la diversité : un nouveau paradigme pour le Défenseur des droits? », in 2015.

Jérôme de Hemptinne

Jérôme de Hemptinne is Researcher at the Geneva Academy of International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights and Lecturer in International Humanitarian Law at the Universities of Louvain, Strasbourg and at the Geneva Academy. He is also a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. He holds a law degree from the University of Louvain and two LL.Ms. in Public International Law from the University of Cambridge and New York University.

He has worked at the Special Tribunal for Lebanon as a senior legal officer, at the Office of Legal Counsel of the UN in New York and at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, where he notably acted as Head of Cabinet for the President. His research focuses on modes of liability for international crimes, the qualification of armed conflicts and institutional aspects of international criminal courts and tribunals, encompassing disciplines such as International Humanitarian Law, Qualification of Armed Conflict, International Criminal Court and Modes of International Responsibility.

Kalliopi Kyriakopoulou

Kalliopi Kyriakopoulou is a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University and an Assistant Professor at the Bader International Study Centre Queen's University (BISC) teaching European Politics and Integration. She holds a Ph.D. in Politics and Government. Among her publications: "Authoritarian states and Internet social media: Instruments of democratization or instruments of control?" (Human Affairs, 2012) and "Presence and Behaviour: Black and Minority Ethnic MPs in the United Kingdom – An Exploratory Study" (2011).

Ludovic Hennebel

Ludovic Hennebel is Professor at the Fund for Scientific Research (F.N.R.S., Belgium) and member of the Perelman Centre of the Law School of the Université Libre de Bruxelles. Currently, Ludovic is also a Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law of Aix-en-Provence and the Director of the Institute of International Humanitarian Studies, the Master NOHA Humanitarian Action and Law. He is in charge of the Clinic of International Human Rights Law. He holds a Ph.D. in Law, an LL.M. in International Human Rights Law, and the René Cassin Diploma on international human rights law. He also holds the Chair of Excellence in International Human Rights and Global Law at the Aix-Marseille University. Similarly, he has led a part of his research as a visiting scholar at Harvard Law School and New York University Law School. His research focuses on International Human Rights Law and on transnational and Global Law. Ludovic Hennebel is the author and editor of several books, articles and essays on international human rights law, global justice, transnational and global law. His most recent work is « Traité de droit international des droits de l'homme », published in 2016.

Céline Husson-Rochcongar

Céline Husson-Rochcongar is a Lecturer in Public Law at the Jules Verne University of Picardie and a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. She holds a Ph.D. in Law from the University of Strasbourg and the University of Geneva. Céline is a Member of the University Centre for Research on Public Action and Politics, Epistemology and Social Sciences (CURAPP-ESS, in French) and the Scientific Steering Committee of the Epistemology of SHS (COPISTEMO, in French), axis of the European House of Human Sciences and Society of Lille. Her last publication is « Droit international des droits de l'homme et valeurs. Le recours aux valeurs dans la jurisprudence des organes spécialisés », in 2012.

Oriane Cabaret

Silvia D'Ascoli

Silvia D'Ascoli is an Italian lawyer and an international criminal prosecutor who has worked for more than ten years in the field of International Criminal Law and Human Rights. Between 2007 and 2015, Silvia served as legal officer for the Office of the Prosecutor of the UN International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia (ICTY), where she worked for the Trial and the Appeals Section, focusing on war crime cases concerning Kosovo and Bosnia, including the case Prosecutor v. Ratko Mladić. She holds a Ph.D. in Law from the European University Institute (Florence, Italy). Since 2011, she is a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University & Paris. She regularly publishes in international legal journals and is the author of a monograph on Sentencing in International Criminal Law, published in 2011 by Hart Publishing. Her experience also includes work with NGOs (Amnesty International, Avocats Sans Frontières, Intersos). In this capacity, she served as a trainee within the Italian Training Network of Amnesty International (AI); she was a member of AI's Italian Committee on Refugee and Migration; of the Board Committee on International Policy; a Research Assistant at the International Secretariat of AI, in London; and a member of the Italian Delegation to the 2007 International Council Meeting of AI, in Mexico. For Intersos, Silvia worked as Head-of-Project of a refugee/migrant-related project in Calabria (Italy), funded by the Italian Ministry of Interior and the EU. Silvia is also a member of the Justice Rapid Response Roster of Experts for human rights investigations in conflict zones.

Catherine Denis

Catherine Denis is a lawyer at the Brussels' Bar (since 1999) who has worked for more than ten years in the field of International Criminal Law, Transitional Justice and Human Rights. Currently, she is a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University and a Project Officer at the European Commission. Catherine was part of the team of Legal Representation of victims at the International Criminal Court (2009-2015) and served as Legal Officer at the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (Judgment Coordinator and Legal Officer to the President of the Tribunal) between July 2004 and November 2008. She also worked as a Legal Officer and Legal Consultant at the Office of Legal Affairs (UN) between November 2008 and December 2010. During her time as an attorney for Van Den Berg and Partners where she practiced Refugee Law and Human Rights, and with Avocats Sans Frontière Catherine provided legal counsel to Headquarters and missions (in Burundi, CAR, DR Congo, Tunisia, Uganda), including in International Criminal law, transitional justice, contractual matters and institutional legal policy. As well as advocating before international organizations, including EU and International Criminal Court.

Catherine Denis holds a Ph.D. in Law and it was published as a book in 2004 under the title: "Le pouvoir normatif du Conseil de Sécurité des Nations Unies").

Ana-Maria Telbis

Ana-Maria Telbis was admitted as a qualified lawyer in the Timis Bar Association (2006), and she is currently a Visiting Professor at the Lille Catholic University. She also works as consultant in Human Rights and the Rule of Law and trains legal professionals and law enforcement officials on ECHR standards. Ana-Maria is the Founder and Managing Director of EHRA (European Human Rights Association), the Association develops and delivers tailor-made training for contracting States' judicial and legal communities, provides awareness-raising activities and carries out research and other knowledge assignments. She holds a law degree from the West University of Timisoara, Romania (2005), a Master's degree in Business Law from the same university (2008), as well as a High Diploma in Comparative Law from the International Faculty of Comparative Law of Strasbourg, France (2007). She also holds a Postgraduate degree in International Humanitarian Law with the University of Nice-Sophia Antipolis, France and the International Institute of Humanitarian Law in San Remo, Italy (2012).

She has worked at the European Court of Human Rights for four years (2008-2012), processing cases against Romania and being involved in other related activities. She mostly focused her work on issues related to effective investigations, length of proceedings (Article and the protection of property. Her area of expertise extends to procedural matters before the Committee of Judges of the European Court of Human Rights, having broad experience with methodical and synthesised treatment of large group of cases of repetitive nature. She has previous experience working with other NGOs namely for the International Bar Association (2008), where she was involved in outreach and monitoring activities with the IBA-ICC (International Criminal Court) Programme in The Hague, the Netherlands.

Xavier Pacreau

Xavier Pacreau is Associate Professor in Public Law at the Lille Catholic University, he is currently the Director of both the European LL.B. and the Franco-German and European LL.M. He teaches Public Law, Constitutional law, and Refugee Law. At present he is a research associate at the Centre Thucide (Université Paris 2 Pantheon-Assas), a member of the C3RD (research centre on the interlinkage between the risk and the law) and since September 2011 Xavier works at the National court of asylum as a judge, among his responsibilities as a judge he is representing the UN Refugee Agency (UNHCR). He holds a Ph.D. in Law and Public International law about Preventive self-defence (with the highest honour) from the University Paris 2 Panthéon-Assas. His contemporary research topics are International Criminal Law, the Use of Force, the Humanitarian law as well as Asylum Rights. His most recent publications are « Les Etats-Unis et la justice pénale internationale » in Dictionnaire encyclopédique de la justice pénale internationale,” dir. O.Beauvallet and “Commentaire article par article du Statut de Rome de la Cour Pénale Internationale”, 2012, Julian Fernandez and Xavier Pacreau.

Sébastien Botreau-Bonneterre

Sébastien Botreau-Bonneterre is the director of The International Institute for Human Rights and Peace, which aims at promoting and defending human rights, international humanitarian law and peaceful settlement of disputes. He is also the Cooperation Attaché at the French Embassy in Macedonia, as such he supervises the Macedonian and French cooperation in the fields of Human Rights, Governance. Sébastien has strong interests and competences in International Humanitarian Law, International Criminal Law and Human Rights applied to armed forces as he worked as a legal advisor for the Office of Armed Conflict, French Ministry of Defence. He holds an LL.M. in Public Law from the University of Caen, an LL.M. in Fundamental Rights, and an LL.M. in Judicial Career, all from the University of Caen.

Julien Moriceau

Julien Moriceau is a Partner and Consultant at C-lever.org, he is also a visiting professor at Lille Catholic University and his research interests focus on Justice, Rule of Law and Development in fragile contexts as his P.h.D. thesis on linkages between access to justice, social development and empowerment of vulnerable people at the Louvain Catholic University (2015-2019) testifies. Julien is a Rule of Law and Governance expert with twelve years' experience in research, training and project development and management, working primarily in fragile states (Burundi, DRC, Madagascar, Myanmar, Nepal, Tunisia, Uganda). He worked for ASF Belgium as a Research Project Coordinator where he set up, developed and supervised studies & operational researches of the organization (impact evaluations, baselines, perception studies, justice actors mapping). Over two years, in Burundi, Julien was a Consultant Researcher for multiple employers (ASF, RCN Justice & Démocratie, Impunity Watch, International committee of the RED Cross (ICRC)) and conducting legal and sociological studies on the justice sector in Burundi. He holds a Law Degree and a Sociology of Law Master's Degree from Université Paris II Panthéon Assas.